

TAKE BACK THE LAND

The same banks that were bailed out last year with our tax money, today are making record profits and bonuses, all while evicting poor people from their homes.

Because the government is helping banks instead of people, in 2007 Take Back the Land started moving homeless families into foreclosed homes- without permission from the banks.

You have seen him on the news and in the Capitalism: A Love Story movie, now hear Max Rameau live talk about the new national Take Back the Land movement.
